AT TIMES, STATEMENTS OR PHRASES CAN CAUSE THE HUMAN MIND, TO TAP INTO WORLDS OR REALITIES WHERE A BIGGER PICTURE OR IMAGE OF THAT TIME ZONE OR REALITY IS GIVEN. REVEALING MORE INFORMATION ABOUT THAT REALITY. SOMEONE ELSE HAS BEEN RESPONSIBLE FOR RECORDING THE HISTORY OF MY PEOPLE FOR THE PAST 500 YEARS, OTHER THAN MY OWN PEOPLE. THE PERCEPTION OF OUR PAST IS VERY LIMITED.

OUR PAST AND HOW WE PERCEIVE OUR PAST HAS BEEN SHOWN TO US BY A PEOPLE WHO HAVE SO FAR NOT RECORDED OUR HISTORY CORRECTLY FOR THE PAST 500 YEARS.

MAY THESE FACTS PENETRATE THE PSYCHE OF MY PEOPLE, AND CAUSE A MENTAL STIMULUS THAT IGNITES THE SPIRIT, AND BREAKS THE SPELL OF AMNESIA THAT CURRENTLY PLAGUES MOST OF US.

WE ARE IN DESPERATE NEED OF TOTAL MEMORY RECALL.

INTRODUCTION

This work has been written in a special way, to psychologically and spiritually heal the mental and spiritual damages that have been done to the Black Indigenous Native of the Western Hemisphere, so-called American Indian. It is also designed to make the Black Indigenous Native of the Western Hemisphere, aware of the psychological and spiritual damages that have been done. It is not for everyone. It is an antidote, for a degree of sickness that has been embedded deeply within the well being of my people. My people have been programmed to think that Africa is their homeland. When home is right under their feet.

This work has repetitive tones to it for a reason. It is designed to de-program, the systematic programming, of the Black Indigenous Native of the Western Hemisphere, throughout the Americas, on how they have been mentally trained since birth, to view themselves, and how they have been mentally trained since birth, to view and perceive their own ancestors. My name is Kanyon. I was born and raised on the westside of Chicago. My Father’s side of the family comes from the Coweta, Cussuta, Shawnee, and Tuscarora people. My mother’s side of the family comes from the Tsali, Choctaw, Chickasaw, and Tchula people. Based upon the Matriarchal society, that was once honored by most of my people, and still honored by some of us, I am Tsali. I come from a long line of women, who trace their lineage through women. Whatever the woman’s clan is, so is the child. However, the strongest spirit on me, and the strongest ancestral spirits who walk with me, is from my father’s side. I am a Red Stick Warrior. We opposed European expansion onto our ancestral lands. We opposed our own people who supported this and opposed our own people who supported the rebel government called America. We fought against Europeans, the new rebel government America, and our own people. We bathed in hot blood with our own kinsmen, who were wooed and seduced by European lifestyle and European trinkets. Many battles were fought with the white man. Many more were fought with our own people who became victims of the white man’s spell. Throughout different battles, where there were a thousand or more white people on the battlefield, there were triple the number of us in ranks alongside of them, helping them with their European colonialism campaign.

As a child growing up during the 1970’s, at the age of five, my grandparents took me back to where they were born and raised, which is Minter City and Money, Mississippi in Leflore County. They took me to various burial grounds, and showed me where my ancestors were resting. In my family, no known relatives still speak our native tongue. It comes out during spirit possession now. My family has maintained rich information about our lineage. Yet many members of my family are victims of European colonialism. They don’t talk about the old ones anymore, like they did when I was a child. The names of our ancestral clans are not even spoken anymore. The only thing that matters to them now is going to the White Man schools, receiving his indoctrination and stamp of approval, graduating, getting a job, and paying your bills on time.

When I was a child, I often heard the elders in my family say that I had been here before. They said that I was old, and that I would one day become a preacher. As a child, I always saw spirits and they always saw me. I was the only child for nine years. During that time most of my time was spent communing with the spirits. I loved the colonized god called Jesus as a child. I was so passionately drawn to his story. I read the bible from front to end constantly. I memorized the books of the bible (the ones that weren’t taken out), always listened to Christian preachers on the radio and would write them letters. My grandmother went to church seldomly. On some Sunday’s when I wasn’t going to church with her, other Sunday’s I was honoring The Hindu god, Krishna, with my mother at the Hindu temple on the Northside of Chicago. As a child, I sat on the lap of his divine grace A.C. Bhaktivedanta Swami Prabhupada. I did not know that one day this would be something very special. I remember as a child on the westside of Chicago, white people called my family “niggers” while riding by in their car. When I said my prayers to Jesus at bedtime, I wondered if he would call me nigger when I got to Heaven, since he looked just like the other white people who called us nigger. Sometimes saying my prayers at bedtime was often confusing as well. Should I pray to Jesus tonight? Or should I pray to his father, God tonight? Should I pray to God tonight? Or will I pray to Jesus tonight? Will God get mad if I give Jesus too much attention? Or will Jesus get mad if I give God too much attention? When I got older, I learned that Jesus was really dark skin, or what some might say black. I learned that his hair was woolly and that he looked nothing like the programmed image that was instilled in me. I also learned that there were many achievements and great accomplishments that had been done by so-called black people, that was never recorded in my school textbooks. I also later learned why as a child the kids teased me when I told them I was Indian. I did not fit the programmed image that was instilled into most people. They did not know, like most adults today, that we all do not look like Sitting Bull or Geronimo. When I got older, I learned that the titles Negro, Colored, and Black does not represent a nationality. I learned that in the not-so-distant past, any dark skin or brown skin person, be they indigenous to the Western Hemisphere, Africa, Asia, or Europe, were called negro or colored, by those who were melanin recessive, darker nation. Like the old African nation, as Black as my father is in color, in some parts of North America, they were called colored, in some parts of South America they were called negroes, the rest in the Spanish speaking countries, they were called negros. This is the reason why many other than blacks are not called negroes or colored or black. They will simply be called colored, negroes, or negro, depending on the country and the area of the land, and some of them may be Black or African.

The Spanish, however, who are entirely white thought the negroes were colored. The Royal and Honorable Order of African Knights is the most Negroes. The Chief was black, the Royal Black Friars of the Holy Ghost, the Chief was Yoruba, but the Royal Thimblerig Society.

At the age of 12 I began dyeing my hair in black. My hair kept on getting on top of this image and I had to continually dye more and more, until that hair was as black as a black man could be. I will give him the best of his hair because I like to see that he looks like me. Having that hair is a demonstration of my action, my doing. It is part of our culture and heritage. Yes, let’s become a Western Florida where people are not different. There will be no color. Everyone will be the same. You have to understand this.

There are many different types of spirits that we can learn from and teach ourselves.
recessive, so-called White people. I learned that millions of my people, the darker natives, were re-labeled as Negro and Colored, and again re-labeled as Black Americans, by Pale Skin Europeans. I learned that the titles, Negro, Colored, Latino, Hispanic, Black American, and African American, were colonized titles, intentionally placed upon my people, to condition them into thinking that we all come from Africa, Spain, or anywhere else other than being indigenous to these shores. Many of my people who did not maintain their true tribal identity, became victims of being psychologically, spiritually and geographically removed from their native land, and placed on a continent 2000 miles across the Atlantic ocean, Africa.

The Ancestral spirits have led me through many different schools of thought. In college, I came across the teachings of His Grace, the Honorable Elijah Muhammed, a Yuchi, through one of his students, the most Noble, Minister Louis Farrakhan. The spirits then led me to his Royal Highness, Al Imam Isa Al Haadi Al Mahdi, also known as Chief Black Eagle, a Yamasee. After this, I was contacted by Egyptian and Yoruba Deities. I had an experience with a race of aquatic beings as well.
At the age of thirty in the fall of 1999, the spirits instructed me to cut my hair in the tradition of my people. The spirits have told me that I am a keeper. Not only of my people, but of this planet as well. My purpose in this incarnation is slowly unraveling. I no longer bash the White man, and give him or his woman credit for bringing about the demise of my people, and even the demon spirit that currently resides on our planet. Those of us that know, the higher teachings say that energy follows energy. The demon spirit that currently resides in this abode is a result of our own actions. The divine gives us things in stages. According to the degree of our consciousness is how we are served by the Universe. My people in the Western Hemisphere were on the down swing long before Europeans came here to settle. This work addresses a certain degree of consciousness.
Therefore as mentioned, it is not for everyone. There will be things that will be said that people may take offense to. That’s not my challenge.
You’ll have to work that out within your own spirit.

The information in this work comes from past life experiences, ancestral spirits, present life experiences, family members, books, and various teachers, who my spirit guides led me to in this day and time.

In the words of my god sister Brown Fox:
“ I salute the ancestors who struggled and were sacrificed maintaining the culture and traditions of our people. I salute the medicine women and medicine men that healed our people in times of sickness. I salute the women warriors and the men warriors who protected our sacred villages. I salute the women chiefs and men chiefs who represented our sacred councils. I salute all my ancestors who live in different physiological forms other than the human form. May we all unite as one, and drive the demon from our world forever.”
"MY PEOPLE ARE DESTROYED FOR LACK OF KNOWLEDGE: BECAUSE THOU HAST REJECTED KNOWLEDGE, I WILL ALSO REJECT THEE, THAT THOU SHALT BE NO PRIEST TO ME: SEEING THOU HAST FORGOTTEN THE LAW OF THY GOD, I WILL ALSO FORGET THY CHILDREN"

HOSEA 4:6
1. Black Indians have lived in the Western Hemisphere since time immemorial.

2. Black Indians were not spawned or created as a result of Africans coming to the Western Hemisphere during the Trans-Atlantic slave trade mixing in with native people of the Western Hemisphere region. (also known as Native American Indians)

3. Native or Indigenous people of the Western Hemisphere (also known as Indians) did not refer to themselves or their ancestors as Indian. (We use the word Indian since most people are accustomed to this title) The word Indian, Red Man and Native American, are European colonized terms. Native or indigenous people of the Western Hemisphere, referred to themselves by way of tones, vibrations of expression. Your spirit said who and what you were. The name given to you was based upon what type of spirit you possessed.

4. All native or indigenous people of the Western Hemisphere (aka Indians) possessed different physiological features. Hair texture, bone structure, and skin tone varied.

5. All native or indigenous people of the Western Hemisphere (aka Indians) did not, and do not have high cheek bones, slanted eyes, reddish copper skin, or straight black hair.

6. All native or indigenous people of the Western Hemisphere did not live in tepees and pueblos.

7. It is difficult for society to accept the Black Indian as being native or indigenous to the Western Hemisphere region because society has been brainwashed with fabricated, fake images of indigenous people in the Western Hemisphere (aka Indians).

8. Most reservation Indians were carefully selected by the U.S. government, to occupy reservations when reservations were being established.

9. The U.S. government, for the most part, selected pale skin Indians, or Hollywood version Indians, to occupy U.S. Government established reservations.
10. The U.S. Government selected a certain physiological type of native, aka Indian, to promote to the world as “this is a real Indian”, as well as “this is how a real Indian looks”.

11. The dark skin natives indigenous to the Western Hemisphere (aka Indians) were reclassified during the 17 and 1800’s as Negroes and Coloreds.

12. Certain dark skin natives were allowed to settle on reservations, with pale skin natives, most were not.

13. Pale Skin natives came about as a result of the original Dark Skin natives breeding with Pale Skin Europeans. A light skin native born from this union, would again breed with a Pale Skin European, thus the progeny of this union would become more Pale or genetically recessive. After centuries of this breeding process, eventually produced the Pale Skin native of the Western Hemisphere. The Dark Skin natives who did not mix their seed still endure. The U.S. Government has reclassified most as Black Americans or African Americans.

14. Certain dark Skin natives, indigenous to the Western Hemisphere (aka Indians) were given an ultimatum. “Go to Oklahoma and be a Indian on the reservation, or stay where your at and be reclassified as a Negro or Colored”.

15. Most Dark Skin natives indigenous to the Western Hemisphere (aka Indians) who were reclassified as Negro or Colored, during the 17 and 1800’s, have found themselves in the 20th and 21st century, again reclassified, as Black Americans and African Americans.

16. Dark Skin natives indigenous to the Western Hemisphere (aka Indians) who embraced the Spanish culture during the colonial era, either by choice or by force, have found themselves engulfed or assimilated into Spanish culture and the Spanish language. Now, most of them have lost the knowledge of themselves and their true identity. They to have been reclassified as Latino or Hispanic.

17. All native people or indigenous people of the Western Hemisphere, (aka Indians) spoke different dialects of a language synonymous to the Hebrew language.
18. Most early European writers during the 1400's throughout the 1800's, including Pale Skin Jews, all agreed that “The Heathen Savage of The Western Hemisphere, (aka Indians) Throughout the Americas, were without a doubt, descendants of the lost tribes of Israel”.

19. A Pale Skin European by the name of James Adair, an English writer and trader during the 18th century, lived amongst Black Indians in the southeast. James Adair wrote a book entitled, “History of The American Indian”. In his book he claimed that the “Indians” of the Western Hemisphere were descendants of the lost tribes of Israel.

20. James Adair in his book “History of the American Indian” wrote twenty-three arguments to support his findings, that the so-called American Indians were descendants of the lost tribes of Israel.

21. Nat Turner, Paul Cuffe, Crispus Attucks, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Harriet Tubman, Denmark Vessey, Elijah Poole aka The Honorable Elijah Muhammad, amongst millions of others, were indigenous to the Western Hemisphere, aka Indians.

22. The titles Black American and African American are fake, inappropriate European colonized titles to keep indigenous people of the Western Hemisphere, aka Indians, under a spell of ignorance.

23. The titles Black American and African American were purposely created to psychologically and spiritually disconnect indigenous people of the Western Hemisphere, aka Indians, from their true motherland, which is right up under their feet.

24. The Reverend Jesse Jackson, a South Carolina Cherokee, started and promoted the fake title of “African American” that has been imposed upon Black Indians indigenous to the Western Hemisphere region.

25. It has become quite profitable to brainwash the indigenous people of the Western Hemisphere, aka Indians, into thinking that Africa is their native land.

26. There is a campaign currently underway, by the U.S. Government and U.S. Government sponsored natives, that preaches a doctrine that says that the Black Indian of the Western Hemisphere, is a result of African mixture, and has not always dwelled in the Western Hemisphere.
27. Most so called Black Americans, or so called African Americans, when asked if any native americans are in their family, at least 95% respond with the answer “yes.” In addition to this, most so called Black Americans, or so called African Americans, are also able to give you the name of the tribe that their relative comes from. Thus, the so-called black American or African American, oddly insist upon calling themselves black American or African American, instead of referring to themselves by way of the ancestral tribal name that has survived in their family, which in essence, is their true nationality.

28. Most so called Black Americans, or so called African Americans, find it difficult to accept themselves as being native, or indigenous to the Western Hemisphere, because of programmed, fabricated images of native people in the Western Hemisphere. Fake images of their own indigenous ancestors has been routinely drilled into their psyche since birth. The Black Indian image does not register within their psyche, because of the fake imagery programming that the U.S. Government has instilled into their minds, of how native or indigenous people of the Western Hemisphere look. The spirit of so called Black Americans, or so called African Americans, tells them one thing, while the programmed fake image of their own ancestors says another. This all leads to inner conflict.

29. The U.S. school system and the media have been the two biggest giants behind programming into the masses, fake fabricated images of native, or indigenous people of the Western Hemisphere (aka Indians)

30. Native or indigenous people of the Western Hemisphere, aka Indians, built pyramids and pyramid mounds, just like the ancient Egyptians. This synonymous comparison of both cultures from opposite sides of the world is because they both were genetically linked. They both are the same people.

31. During the time of Pangea, (a Greek word that means “All One”) all of the continents on the planet Earth were one mass of land. People lived and thrived during the time of Pangea. This is a large explanation as to why pyramid builders in the Eastern Hemisphere, and pyramid builders in the Western Hemisphere, have cultures that are incredibly synonymous. The Continents continue to move. Some move 4 inches a year. The Continents will one day become one mass of land again. The Continents are currently separated at this time, however, the genetic link of beings from Pangea never parted.

32. The term “moors” has forever been used to label all people of brown skin who are from the western hemisphere, especially the African. “Moors” has been used as negative for centuries. The term “Moors” has been used as “slave” in history. “Moors” have been used as “black” throughout the history of the Western Hemisphere. The term “Moors” has been used as “black” all the way back to Henry VIII’s war on Indians.

33. Indigenous people of the Western Hemisphere, aka “Moors”, have been labeled as “Moors” in the Western Hemisphere, for different reasons. The “Moors” in the Western Hemisphere have been described as “black” by most historians. Many of these historians have been biassed, however, in their writing. The term “Moors” has been used as “black” throughout the history of the Western Hemisphere ever since the first white man arrived on the “New World”.

34. Certain individuals, in their attempt to maintain their personal and collective consciousness, will not accept that indigenous people of the Western Hemisphere are “black”.

35. Both Darwin and the fellow Briton, who founded the systematic persecution of humans based on tradition, aka “C今生世族世”, aka the “New World”, aka Western Hemisphere, made the tradition that all indigenous people were aboriginal and were all different from each other. This is that central tenet of the “New World” that is going on.

36. Certain individuals will not accept the “New World” is going on.

37. The U.S. school system, aka “Indian Country”
32. The term “Moor” was applied to dark skin, brown skin, and reddish brown skin people, who were not only indigenous to Europe, but to west and north Africans. Even Black Indians of the Western Hemisphere were also dubbed with this title.

33. Indigenous Black Celts, Indigenous Black Britons, indigenous Black Portuguese, and indigenous Black Spaniards, all also known as “Moors”, had a long time knowledge of indigenous people in the Western Hemisphere. These “Moors” were well informed of the different customs, traditions, and languages of the natives of the Western Hemisphere. These Dark Skin Europeans, “Moors”, were used as “Buffers” by Pale Skin Europeans, to help colonize the “New World”. These indigenous Black Europeans, aka “Moors”, not only solicited the “New World” to Pale Skin Europeans, but also waged war on indigenous people of the Western Hemisphere, aka Indians.

34. Certain Black indigenous Europeans, aka Moors, that went under such titles as clergymen and European nobility, shared a common consciousness with Pale Skin Europeans. That common consciousness being that the indigenous people of the Western Hemisphere, aka Indians, were “untamed heathen savages”.

35. Both Dark Skin and Pale Skin Europeans, who were either Celtic, Briton, Gaelic, or what have you, who were fleeing religious persecution in Europe, and were struggling to preserve ancient traditional customs, dubbed “pagan ways”, upon arrival to the “New World”, ran to the bosom of Black Indian Nations indigenous to the Western Hemisphere soil, who still held on to and were practicing traditional spirituality. Both cultures were different. However, both were able to relate to each others gods. Black Indian Nations and different clans native to Europe, both shared a common spirituality that centered around the forces of nature, and the honoring of the ancestral spirits.

36. Certain Moors helped to navigate Christopher Columbus’s voyage to the “New World”. He wasn’t lost. He knew exactly where he was going. Simply because of who was on the boat with him.

37. The U.S. Constitutional Government is a plagiarized copy of a Black Indian Governmental system, the Iroquois Nation.
38. The founding fathers did not find anything. They went to Black Indians, The Iroquois Nation, seeking assistance to break away from their chief back in England, King George the III. The Iroquois Nation taught them their system of government. The only part that the so-called founding fathers left out was the matriarchy. Black Indian Women ruled the Iroquois Nation.

39. Most Black Indians of the Western Hemisphere found themselves seduced by European lifestyle, customs, and traditions.

40. When the American Revolutionary War broke out, Black Indians found themselves fighting against their own kinsman. Some Black Indian Nations sided with the British, while other Black Indian Nations sided with the Colonial Rebels, aka Americans.

41. After Black Indian Nations helped to set up the Colonial Government (America), and in addition to, helped to sponsor military support for the “New” Colonial government, Black Indian Nations continued to fight and war amongst themselves, as they did before and after, Europeans set foot upon Western Hemisphere shores.

42. Black Indians were not conquered by Europeans, or the so called “White Man”. Black Indians had a rich history of intertribal warfare amongst each other that continued before and after European arrival. The intertribal warfare that existed amongst Black Indians in the Western Hemisphere was so great, that it left them in a state of impotency. With impotency setting in after years and years of clan warfare, in addition to, the attraction of European trinkets, customs and traditions, and the worshipping of the god named “Jesus”, all assisted in paving the way for European occupancy of Black Indian lands, their spirits, and their minds.

43. After the Colonial Government was established (America), Black Indian Nations continued to aid the new Colonial Government with military assistance on other Black Indian nations that fought against European expansion, and the taking of their ancestral lands.

44. General “Mad” Anthony Wayne, aka “The Black Snake”, was a Black Indian who served under the George Washington Administration. The Army of General Anthony Wayne consisted of mostly Black Indians in the ranks, as did the entire Colonial Government Army. Besides Black Indians making up the bulk of the new Colonial Government Army (American), Moors also filled up the ranks.
45. George Washington established treaties, or contracts with various Black Indian Nations, as well as with the Moors, for military support against other Black Indian Nations who did not support the occupancy of the “New” Colonial Government (America).

46. After the Colonial Government (America) confiscated most Black Indian lands, they, the Colonial Government refused to pay Black Indian Warriors pensions for their military support.

47. During the “American Civil War”, Black Indians joined the Confederate Army in hopes of winning, to secure what little ancestral lands they had left.

48. Other Black Indians joined the Union side of the “American Civil War”, to fight for their own objectives as well. One of those objectives being, seeking “prosperity” within the American System.

49. “Nickalack” also known as “Nigger Jack”, was a Black Chicamaugua, a Black Indian. This ancestor led raids against the Colonial Rebel Army (Americans) during the Colonial Rebel Uprising (American Revolutionary War). He fought along side of the British Tories. His hideout was a cave in the vicinity of what is now known as “Chattanooga, Tennessee”. In the state of Georgia, in the region known as “Cobb County”, there is a park, a road, and a creek, named after this great warrior.

50. There were thousands upon thousands of Black Indians who fought in the American Civil War, and in wars before and after this war, who were Black Indians, or native to the Western Hemisphere region, but were oblivious to this fact. They only thought themselves to be “Negroes”. Their parents, and their parent’s parents, who had lost the knowledge of themselves (tribal identity), in all honesty, simply passed on to the next generation the colonized title of “Negro” to their children. Thus an unbroken chain of ignorance continues to survive.

51. Most Buffalo Soldiers were Black Indians, dispatched by the U.S. Army to assist in the colonizing and confiscation of other Black Indian lands, west of the Mississippi River. Reservation natives, who don’t know the true history and who are also brainwashed by images, feel that the “Buffalo Soldiers”, who are ill mistaken and ill classified as “African Americans”, helped the Pale Face drive them off their lands and onto reservations. This last aspect of things however is true. In addition to this, one must keep in mind that most reservation natives are hybrid descendants of the true indigenous seed.
52. Many Black Indians who fought in the American Civil War, either on the Confederate side or the Union side, were not acknowledged as being indigenous or native. They were acknowledged as being "Negroes".

53. Most of the Navajo code talkers, who were used to assist the U.S. Government in World War II, were Blue Black Indians. The photo and film footage of the Black Navajo, who participated in this war, were carved out of history.

54. The term Negro and Colored was not only applied to Black Indians to psychologically and spiritually remove them from their lands, these colonized titles were also applied to Black Indians who were incorporated into the slave market.

55. Black Indians did slave raids on each other, before and after European arrival.

56. Black Indians owned other Black Indians as slaves. These slaves were also classified as "Negroes".

57. European writers took advantage of #56 fact above, to say that Indians owned slaves. Fake European images of so-called Indians were promoted, showing so called Indians owning slaves. Art paintings were displayed, showing distorted images of natives in the Western Hemisphere, owning dark skin people as slaves (who in most cases were also native). The fake images of indigenous people in the Western Hemisphere, which usually displays them as having pale skin, shows them owning slaves whose skin is always depicted as being dark. Pale skin Europeans helped to create a consciousness, which subliminally says, that slaves and Negroes are synonymous. When most people hear or read about a slave, simultaneously the image of a dark skin person appears in their mind. By showing fake pale skin natives, owning dark skin people, helped to create the illusion that so called Indians and Negroes, are two separate races. When in essence, they’re the same people.

58. The U.S. Government and U.S. government sponsored natives, are preaching a doctrine that says that so called Black People became Indian or native people as a result of acquiring citizenship with different indigenous nations here on Western soil. As to say that no dark skin people lived in the Western Hemisphere up until the Trans-Atlantic African slave trade. This tactic is exercised in attempts to discredit indigenous Black Indians from claiming their true homeland, and subliminally supports the ridiculous notion, that every dark skin person that is interpreted as "black" is from Africa.
59. Queen Latifah, the rapper and actress, is a Black Indian.

60. Most Black Indians today refuse to except that they’re indigenous, because they have fallen victim to the spell of fake images. If their hair isn’t straight or curly, and their cheek bones not high, neither their eyes slanted, or their skin light or a reddish hue, they just simply decide that they’re black from Africa.

61. Most Black Indians of the Western Hemisphere, who are falsely labeled as African Americans and Black Americans, fought for their Civil Rights during the 1940s through the 1960s. They were not known as Black Indians or being indigenous. Some knew, others didn’t. They went under the cloaking title of “Negro”. Negro Civil Rights Movement, AKA, Black Indian Civil Rights Movement.

62. Most Interstate Highways and roads in what is now known as the “United States of America”, used to be at one time, Black Indian trails and pathways, that lead to other Black Indian towns and Black Indian cities. The paths were widened and laced with concrete, and renamed as Interstate Highways by the pale one.

63. Most cities and towns today, in what is now known as the “United States of America”, sit on top of ancient Black Indian cities and towns that were there first.

64. In most cities and towns in what is now known as the “United States of America”, there remains hundreds of thousands of Black Indians buried under the concrete, as a result of casualties of war.

65. St. Louis, Missouri used to be a Black Indian city called Cahokia. Cahokia at one time was the largest city north of Mexico and at one time one of the largest cities in the world. Outraking most cities in Europe.

66. Black Indians did not only use paths and trails as a means of transportation on the surface, but also used the underground cave tunnel system.

67. Black Indians revealed, taught, and navigated Europeans through the underground cave tunnel system.
68. Games such as, basketball, soccer, and lacrosse originated from Black Indians in the Western Hemisphere.

69. Black Indians played dice games, just as they continue to do on most inner city corners in what is now known as "The United States of America".

70. The boxer, Muhammad Ali, aka Cassius Clay, is a Black Indian.

71. Black Indians did not always kill each other in war. War used to be carried out by playing games.

72. During the 16th through the 19th centuries, Black Indians migrated from their ancestral lands, in what is now known as "North America", to much more older ancestral lands in the Mexican, Central, and South American regions. This exodus was a result of both pale skin and dark skin European invasion.

73. Many Black Indian Chiefs were put on annual salaries by different European nations, throughout the 16,17, and 1800's. European nations such as France, Britian, Spain, Portugal, and the Dutch (Netherlands) paid Black Indian Chiefs of the Western Hemisphere, a salary for their support in the slave market. European currency, rum, thundersticks (guns), and a free trip to Europe were all elements that made up this annual salary.

74. Many Black Indian Chiefs were also put on European annual salaries, to provide military support for various European nations. European annual salaries were established depending on who you signed treaties with, or aligned yourself with.

75. Many Black Indian warriors, both females and males, became hired privateers (pirates), for various European nations during the 15th through the 18th centuries. Known as "Warriors on Water" or "Thugs on Water", these Black Indian warriors were paid salaries to harass, rob, and shake down cargo ships for various European nations, depending on who they contracted with. This of course also depended on which European nation their nation formed treaties with.
76. Some Black Indian warriors did not honor their nation’s alliance with European powers, and left their own nation and became free lance privateers. They decided to work or contract for whomever. Some even privateered for themselves.

77. Many Black Indians went to Europe to receive Pale Skin education.

78. Many Black Indians not only attended Pale Skin colleges and universities, but also enrolled into pale skin military schools, where they learned pale skin warfare, and taught pale skins their own method of warfare.

79. Many Black Indians, who became thoroughly indoctrinated into Pale skin education and Pale Skin religion, came back to their homeland and helped Pale Skins colonize their own people.

80. Many Black Indians, who became thoroughly indoctrinated into European lifestyle, took on European names and European titles such as military officers, clergyman, interpreters, or just plain businessmen.

81. Many Black Indians who became indoctrinated into European lifestyle, in fact, moved to different European countries, such as Spain, England, France, and Portugal, denounced their own nationality, and became citizens of these European countries.

82. Many Black Indians who left their homeland throughout the 15th through the 19th centuries, and migrated to various European countries, their progeny are still there to this day. Some of them have maintained the information of their true roots of origin. While others have become lost in the sauce.

83. Depending upon which European nations Black Indians had intercourse with, or formed treaties with, also depended upon how their identity was eventually altered. Black Indian Nations who had intercourse with Spain, eventually became known by the colonized titles of “Latino” and “Hispanic”. Black Indians who had intercourse with the French, became known by the colonized titles of “Creole”, “Black French” and “Haitian”. Black Indians who had intercourse with the British, became known by the colonized titles of “Negro” and “Colored”. Black Indians who became victims of British subjugation, are still going through colonized title changes. For the moment, they are presently known as “Black Americans and African Americans”.

84. Most Black Indian Nations honored “Matriarchal” societies.

85. Most Black Indian Chiefs were “Women”.

86. Black “Asians” from various dynasties, Chou, Shang, and many others, migrated from Asia thousands of years ago, to the regions now known as North, South, and Central America. These Black Asians, mixed in with the Black Natives who were already occupying these lands. This explains why some natives or indigenous people of the Western Hemisphere, aka Indians, have high cheek bones and slanted eyes. This type of image, of the native of the Western Hemisphere, has been widely promoted. Other natives, who do not possess these features, were carved out of history. To promote how other natives looked would not have been a balancing move for the colonizer.

87. Black Indians lived and thrived in the Western Hemisphere during the time of the Ice Age. They occupied the regions of what is now known as southern North America, Mexico, Central and South America, down by the equator, where it’s hot and warm.

88. Huge Monolith stone heads have been unearthed in the Mexico region. This ancient culture has come to be known as “The Olmec People”. Past and present archeologists and anthropologists, both agree, that the “Olmec” represent not only one of the oldest cultures found in the Western Hemisphere, but also agree that the Olmec represent the “Mother Culture” of the Aztec, Inca, and Mayan civilizations.

89. Some people teach that the “Olmec” migrated from the Nile Valley region in east Africa, to the Western Hemisphere. If this is true, they were only received by Black Natives who were already residing here.

90. Many Black Indians who became indoctrinated into European lifestyle, joined European orchestrated fraternities and secret societies, such as the order of free masonry.

91. The Black Indian Joseph Brant (Tayondanega) of the Iroquois Nation became a free mason.

92. There were some Black Indian Nations of the Western Hemisphere region who had known blood ties to various clans in Africa.
93. Many Black Indians navigated the oceans, and did not live in isolated communities as taught by the pale face in their school systems.

94. During the early 1800’s, certain Black Indians who went under the colonized titles of Negro and Colored, helped to establish settlements on the west coast of Africa for other Black Indians. These Black Indians went under another title. They were also known as the “Black Elite”. In the late 1800’s, other settlements were established in Liberia. Many Black Indians, those who knew they were indigenous to the Western Hemisphere, those that didn’t know, and those that thought they were from Africa, settled in west Africa under the guise of Negreros and Coloreds seeking a better life. A Black Indian by the name of Paul Cuffe, a Black Pequot, helped many Black Indians, settle on the west coast of Africa. Paul Cuffe owned and operated many boats. He had his own shipping company, and in that era, became one of the richest Black Indians in America at that time.

95. Many Black Indians, east of the Mississippi River, wore turbans adorned with feathers. Besides their languages having the idiom of the Hebrew tongue, the wearing of the turban was a physical sign of their genetic link to the Hebrew Israelites.

96. Certain Black Indian Nations acted as “police” for freshly established European colonies. These Black Indian “police” protected European settlements from other Black Indians who did not want Europeans settling on their lands.

97. The Colonial Rebel Uprising (American Revolutionary War) was mainly won for the following two reasons. 1. The new Colonial Rebel Government’s Constitutional foundation was a Black Indian Constitutional Government foundation. That Black Indian Nation being “The Iroquois Nation”. 2. Most of the military support came from Black Indians indigenous to the Western Hemisphere region. Other military support came from “The Moors”. The Moor support came from Moors that were from Spain, France, Portugal and Morocco. Other Moor support came from renegade Moors from England that broke away from England to support the Colonial Rebels. Also keep in mind, when Spain, France, and Portugal gave assistance to the Colonial Rebels, there existed Black Indians that also filled up the ranks of these armies. Remember, Black Indians had been migrating to Europe for quite sometime before the “American Revolutionary War”. Some of these Black Indians knew where they were returning to. While those who were thoroughly colonized, did not.
98. During the “Seminole Wars”, the U.S. Government recruited other Black Indians to assist them in the war against the Seminoles.

99. Black Indians who had lost the knowledge of themselves (tribal identity), and were labeled as “Negroes and Coloreds”, were also recruited in the U.S. Army ranks to fight in the Seminole Wars.

100. The United States Government had to abandon the war with the Seminoles. They could not defeat them.

101. Many Africans that come to the United States in this present day and time, know that most so-called African Americans are indeed Black Indigenous Indians.

102. Most foreigners from other nations abroad are waiting for so-called African Americans to reclaim their rightful titles.

103. The re-claiming of the identity of the Black Indigenous Indian in the Western Hemisphere region is not a difficult task. It does not require petitioning outside of yourself, to someone else, to acknowledge who you are. Your mother, your father, your grandmother and your grandfather, the information that has been passed down through your lineage, to you from them, is the acknowledgment. Neither does it require the testing of your own DNA, by way of the colonizers pseudo contraptions. The Earth and the Ancestral spirits know perfectly who you are. Just claim who you are.
